Duo Organ Sonic Spectacular!
Sunday, May 30, 2:00 PM

Our own Br. Jonathan Ryan, SJC will be joined by Nathan Laube, a rising star among concert organists and a Chicago native who once practiced at St. John Cantius Church while a high school student at the Chicago Academy for the Arts next door, for a unique program of thrilling music for two organs and music for four hands/four feet at one organ. The 75-minute program will feature both the Upper and Lower West Balcony organs with music for two organs by the brilliant Italian Baroque Bernardo Pasquini, the master J.S. Bach, and American composer Calvin Hampton, solo organ selections by the great French symphonists Charles-Marie Widor and Louis Vierne, and music for two organists at one organ by Gustav Holst.

Solemn Vespers and Benediction
 will follow the recital in the church.

Tickets are available for a suggested donation of $10/person or $25/family which will benefit the parish's sacred music program.

More information, including the program, is available in the "Calendar" section of the www.cantius.org parish website.

Annual Retreat

Each month the Priests and Brothers have a Day of Recollection, that is a day of prayer and reflection. We either conduct this at St. Anne's chapel in Lawton or visit St. Peter's in Volo. In addition to the monthly Day of Recollection all members of the Community make an annual retreat. Due to the fact that all members make the annual retreat which is done at a place away from the parish, Masses and devotions will be cancelled on those days in the parish, but the intentions for Masses will be said on our retreat. This year our retreat will center around the completion of the Constitutions for the Canons Regular of St. John Cantius. The dates for the retreat will be May 26-28. Again, during those days Masses and devotions will be cancelled. We resume our regular schedule on May 29th.

Don Bosco Youth Camps 2010

Every summer, St. John Cantius parish hosts the Don Bosco Youth camps for boys and now girls. In order to keep camps affordable for large Catholic families, we offer the camp at cost and sometimes we ask even less. Thanks to the generosity of benefactors, many young people are given the opportunity to participate in these camps every summer. Currently we are looking for benefactors for the upcoming sessions. If you are interested in sponsoring a young person, or are even interested in purchasing or donating sports equipment for the camp, please contact Br. Chad McCoy at the rectory or email him at donbosco-camps@cantius.org.

The dates for this summer's sessions are as follows,

June 27 - July 2

(High school girls Wisconsin trip)

July 12 - 16 (boys ages 8 - 13 day camp)

July 12 - 16 (girls ages 8 - 13 day camp)

July 18 - 23 (High school boys Wisconsin trip)

July 18 - 23 (Boys ages 8 - 13 Wisconsin trip)

Wisconsin trips are $200. per camper

Day camps are $75. per camper

Registration will be taken after Masses on Sundays May 16th

The Women's Center

During the month of May we honor our blessed Mother, Mary, and our own mothers in a special way. We ask for your help for the pregnant mothers in difficult circumstances who come for assistance to The Women's Center. Together, we will enable them to enjoy many Mother's Days with their children.

We desperately need a used cargo van in good working condition. This is an income tax deductible contribution. Call 773-794-4774.

Volunteers are needed to answer calls in our Chicago and Evergreen Park counseling offices. For more information call 773-794-1313. We are also looking for a volunteer to promote our newsletter for young people to schools and individuals. The newsletter features stories about saints, God's love for us, pro-life ideas, plus fun things. If interested in this call Pat at 773-794-4777.

We need boy's and girl's summer clothes in sizes 3-16, infant sleepers, crib sheets and bumper pads. We also need 6 baby cribs, odd crib parts for repairs, 9 infant/carrier car seats, 3 toddler beds, 4 bouncers, strollers, 3 small chests of drawers, 3 changing tables, 5 Pack N Plays and 6 baby swings. It will be a great help if you can deliver these to us. For our address, or if a pick up is needed, please call 773-794-1313. All clothing needs to be dropped off unless accompanied by baby furniture. We need more volunteers to pick up baby furniture. The families who receive these items are grateful for your generosity.

If you shop at Dominick's Food Stores and register your Fresh Values card with The Women's Center, we earn a percentage of what you spend. You can shop any day and at any time of day. Please call us at 773-794-1313 to register your card.

MESSAGE OF HIS HOLINESS POPE BENEDICT XVI
FOR THE 44th WORLD COMMUNICATIONS DAY

"The Priest and Pastoral Ministry in a Digital World: New Media at the Service of the Word"

[Sunday, 16 May 2010]

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

The theme of this year's World Communications Day - The Priest and Pastoral Ministry in a Digital World: New Media at the Service of the Word - is meant to coincide with the Church's celebration of the Year for Priests. It focuses attention on the important and sensitive pastoral area of digital communications, in which priests can discover new possibilities for carrying out their ministry to and for the Word of God. Church communities have always used the modern media for fostering communication, engagement with society, and, increasingly, for encouraging dialogue at a wider level. Yet the recent, explosive growth and greater social impact of these media make them all the more important for a fruitful priestly ministry.

All priests have as their primary duty the proclamation of Jesus Christ, the incarnate Word of God, and the communication of his saving grace in the sacraments. Gathered and called by the Word, the Church is the sign and instrument of the communion that God creates with all people, and every priest is called to build up this communion, in Christ and with Christ. Such is the lofty dignity and beauty of the mission of the priest, which responds in a special way to the challenge raised by the Apostle Paul: "The Scripture says, 'No one who believes in him will be put to shame ... everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.' But how can they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how can they believe in him of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone to preach? And how can people preach unless they are sent? (Rom 10:11, 13-15).

Responding adequately to this challenge amid today's cultural shifts, to which young people are especially sensitive, necessarily involves using new communications technologies. The world of digital communication, with its almost limitless expressive capacity, makes us appreciate all the more Saint Paul's exclamation: "Woe to me if I do not preach the Gospel" (1 Cor 9:16) The increased availability of the new technologies demands greater responsibility on the part of those called to proclaim the Word, but it also requires them to become more focused, efficient and compelling in their efforts. Priests stand at the threshold of a new era: as new technologies create deeper forms of relationship across greater distances, they are called to respond pastorally by putting the media ever more effectively at the service of the Word.

The spread of multimedia communications and its rich "menu of options" might make us think it sufficient simply to be present on the Web, or to see it only as a space to be filled. Yet priests can rightly be expected to be present in the world of digital communications as faithful witnesses to the Gospel, exercising their proper role as leaders of communities which increasingly express themselves with the different "voices" provided by the digital marketplace. Priests are thus challenged to proclaim the Gospel by employing the latest generation of audiovisual resources (images, videos, animated features, blogs, websites) which, alongside traditional means, can open up broad new vistas for dialogue, evangelization and catechesis.

Using new communication technologies, priests can introduce people to the life of the Church and help our contemporaries to discover the face of Christ. They will best achieve this aim if they learn, from the time of their formation, how to use these technologies in a competent and appropriate way, shaped by sound theological insights and reflecting a strong priestly spirituality grounded in constant dialogue with the Lord. Yet priests present in the world of digital communications should be less notable for their media savvy than for their priestly heart, their closeness to Christ. This will not only enliven their pastoral outreach, but also will give a "soul" to the fabric of communications that makes up the "Web".

God's loving care for all people in Christ must be expressed in the digital world not simply as an artifact from the past, or a learned theory, but as something concrete, present and engaging. Our pastoral presence in that world must thus serve to show our contemporaries, especially the many people in our day who experience uncertainty and confusion, "that God is near; that in Christ we all belong to one another" (Benedict XVI, Address to the Roman Curia, 21 December 2009).

Who better than a priest, as a man of God, can develop and put into practice, by his competence in current digital technology, a pastoral outreach capable of making God concretely present in today's world and presenting the religious wisdom of the past as a treasure which can inspire our efforts to live in the present with dignity while building a better future? Consecrated men and women working in the media have a special responsibility for opening the door to new forms of encounter, maintaining the quality of human interaction, and showing concern for individuals and their genuine spiritual needs. They can thus help the men and women of our digital age to sense the Lord's presence, to grow in expectation and hope, and to draw near to the Word of God which offers salvation and fosters an integral human development. In this way the Word can traverse the many crossroads created by the intersection of all the different "highways" that form "cyberspace", and show that God has his rightful place in every age, including our own. Thanks to the new communications media, the Lord can walk the streets of our cities and, stopping before the threshold of our homes and our hearts, say once more: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will enter his house and dine with him, and he with me" (Rev 3:20).

In my Message last year, I encouraged leaders in the world of communications to promote a culture of respect for the dignity and value of the human person. This is one of the ways in which the Church is called to exercise a "diaconia of culture" on today's "digital continent". With the Gospels in our hands and in our hearts, we must reaffirm the need to continue preparing ways that lead to the Word of God, while being at the same time constantly attentive to those who continue to seek; indeed, we should encourage their seeking as a first step of evangelization. A pastoral presence in the world of digital communications, precisely because it brings us into contact with the followers of other religions, non-believers and people of every culture, requires sensitivity to those who do not believe, the disheartened and those who have a deep, unarticulated desire for enduring truth and the absolute. Just as the prophet Isaiah envisioned a house of prayer for all peoples (cf. Is 56:7), can we not see the web as also offering a space – like the "Court of the Gentiles" of the Temple of Jerusalem – for those who have not yet come to know God?

The development of the new technologies and the larger digital world represents a great resource for humanity as a whole and for every individual, and it can act as a stimulus to encounter and dialogue. But this development likewise represents a great opportunity for believers. No door can or should be closed to those who, in the name of the risen Christ, are committed to drawing near to others. To priests in particular the new media offer ever new and far-reaching pastoral possibilities, encouraging them to embody the universality of the Church's mission, to build a vast and real fellowship, and to testify in today's world to the new life which comes from hearing the Gospel of Jesus, the eternal Son who came among us for our salvation. At the same time, priests must always bear in mind that the ultimate fruitfulness of their ministry comes from Christ himself, encountered and listened to in prayer; proclaimed in preaching and lived witness; and known, loved and celebrated in the sacraments, especially the Holy Eucharist and Reconciliation. To my dear brother priests, then, I renew the invitation to make astute use of the unique possibilities offered by modern communications. May the Lord make all of you enthusiastic heralds of the Gospel in the new "agorà" which the current media are opening up.

With this confidence, I invoke upon you the protection of the Mother of God and of the Holy Curè of Ars and, with affection, I impart to each of you my Apostolic Blessing.

From the Vatican, 24 January 2010, Feast of Saint Francis de Sales.

BENEDICTUS XVI
